Wall Street Waits Doing Little Business, But Confident Market Will Be Sustained

NEW YORK MARKET NARROW WITH PRODUCE MARKET FAIR UNDERTONE AND SMALL CHANGE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—At thimes today the tickers were quiet for a minute. It no time was the stock market active and the volume of business was very imited.

afternoon, Southern Pacific and a few other stocks eased off ½ point, and the general market was just about as dull as during the morning hours. Brokers had little business, and the market was on the scalping order. the tickers were quiet for a minute. At no time was the stock market active

It seems to be the policy of the parties who have the stock market under complete control to play the waiting game. It is not probable that there will be much doing for a week or ten days. By that time it is possible that the political situation will be less dense. This seems to be the only hindrance to an advance as conditions in the general siness world, in the various industries and in railroad earnings are improving very steadily, and but for this certainty the betterment would be so evident as not to be doubted.

It is fortunate that conditions in respect to the ownership of securities are as they are. Commission houses are almost bare of stock on margins, other than from professional room traders. The public is still indifferent to the market, and holdings of margined securities by the public are smaller than

The clique heaeded by Mr. Harriman and composed of some of the very best men in New York, from a financial standpoint, is not likely to make any nictakes, nor is it likely that they will permti any serious decline in the marno matter what the result of the election. Mr. Harriman has made the statement that it can make no difference to the stock market whatever the result of the November 3 contest, and port his theories.

Higer Levels Probable.

It is expected, however, by everyone in touch with the big fellows and their ans, that, after a period of hestitation, the market will start toward a higher level, in the discounting of the election returns, for despite Harriman's opinion, the result is important from a stock market point of view, and there hundreds and thousands of people who would probably buy stocks today, they were assured of the reins of overnment being held by the candidate the party in power. The Street is the opinion that this will be the relt, and, any indication thereof, will be factor in advancing prices. Jossips advise the purchase of low leed stocks on all recessions and pretiber raids now and then, testing positions.

With few exceptions the price changes were within a narrow range. Central of New Jersey was off from 196 to 187, although there was no evidence therefor. Canadian Pacific was under the nammer early with a loss of 1½, but was recovered, except the fraction after on. The leading rails were both ligher and lower, but the noon hour rice showed little change of importnce from Wednesday's close.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Considering the cables the cotton market made a fairly good start this morning, opening only 2 to 5 points lower. One private cable stated that the settlement of the stock of the mill hands in the Lancashire district was less hopeful and that the South is offering more freely. There were also a little Southern selling here on the call in the face of smaller port receipts today. The weather was clear and seasonably cool throughout the entire beit. Later the declines were partially recovered.
